The Special Citizens Investigating Committee (SCIC) was a crime commission organized by the New Orleans Commission Council and the Metropolitan Crime commission to help overcome crime and corruption and to correct situations that bred crime. The SCIC was formed in reaction to the blatant role of organized crime in New Orleans as revealed by testimony given to the Kefauver investigating committee in January, 1951. Interviewed by the New Orleans media on May 22, 1951, Kefauver recommended the local formation of a crime commission to suppress crime on a grand scale. In May 1952, a group of New Orleans business and clergymen organized the Metropolitan Crime Commission. However, subsequent public scandals led to the formation of an independent investigative body composed of three citizens, called the Special Citizens Investigative Committee. It had authority to hire counsel and to investigate the police department of the city of New Orleans.

Aaron M. Kohn, lawyer and former F.B.I. agent who had just completed a ten-month study of crime in Chicago, was selected to run the SCIC. He arrived in June 1953, set up necessary legal authority, chose investigators and eventually disclosed ample evidence of criminal activity in the city, particularly in the areas of gambling, prostitution, bribery and handbook operations. He methodically analyzed the police department and its personnel through all its divisions; sent special investigators out as undercover agents to clubs, bars and other sites where suspected gambling was located; sent subpoenas to suspects and held public and private hearings.

The Special Citizens Investigating Committee Papers contain information collected by the investigating committee during the years 1953-1957 concerning the Mayor's Office, the Police Department, its officers and personnel, Detective Bureau, Juvenile Bureau, Traffic Police, Narcotics Squad, Homicide Squad, Auto Pound; District Attorney's Office; Orleans Parish Courts; Orleans Parish Sheriff; Orleans Parish Prison; various vice activities including Prostitution, Gambling, Handbook Operations, Lottery, Narcotics, Homosexuals; the Didie Cooper Murder Case; alleged police involvement in safe burglaries; transcribed notes and testimony from various individuals including Jack Richter, Jennie Nord, Phil Tuminello, Nancy Morford, Jake di Giovanni, Doris Gellman; notes concerning particular cases such as the Labat-Poret Case, the Duplessis-Parrish Case and the Touzet-Michaels Case as well as other special cases and complainants of the time; an analysis of criminal organization in the city; the Louisiana State Police; the Louisiana State Department of Revenue; taxicabs; the Civil Service Commission; Special Investigative Bodies; subpoena material - lists and forms; Private Hearings, on handbooks, prostitution, narcotics, B-drinking, and arrest parole authority. Also included are Investigative Reports from special undercover informants selected for the job, with stenographic notes.

The collection contains the following material: main files (boxes 1-8); public hearings (boxes 9, 10); legal authority and correspondence (box 11); office and employment records (box 12); Aaron Kohn notes, private testimony (box 13); confidential investigators (box 14); subpoenas (box 15); grand jury, Superintendent Schuering (box 16); evidence (box 17); duplicates and three looseleaf notebooks (box 18); newspaper clippings (boxes 19, 20, 21, 22).

Aaron Kohn organized the main files into a numerical system. In general, the topics are arranged in the following order: Mayor's Office; Police Department (by rank and district); vice activities; safe burglaries; transcribed statements and testimony of selected witnesses; criminal organizations, Civil Service Commission (briefly); the Grand Jury; SCIC private hearings; SCIC public hearings. This material forms the heart of the collection and is the main body of the six volumes of the SCIC Report.

The organization of the collection is complex, and entry into it may be gained in a number of ways--through the reports, the inventory or by specific reference to a well-known public figure.

The following example demonstrates one way the collection may be used: first, find the subject in the inventory--for example, the Touzet-Michaels Case. The numbers for this case are 10-13 through 10-15. Second, find the appropriate box number (box 6). Then look in the Evidence box (box 17) and the newspaper clipping file (box 20).

Another way to use the papers, to take a wider view, is to consult the SCIC Reports which serve as resumes for the evidence presented in the hearings and that collected by undercover agents. A sample topic might be "Alleged Police Bribery and Extortion" contained in volume III of the SCIC Report. One may then turn to a more specific person or thing within the Report, Major Joseph di Paoli, to use a well-known example. On page 543 of the Report one can then find specific references to alleged bribery with the appropriate file number beneath the paragraphs: (2-6-68; 2-12-13a-1; 2-0-10-6). These numbers refer to the original Kohn files (boxes 1 through 8), and serve as the basic material on which the Reports are based. More information on di Paoli (or any similar figure) may then be found in the inventory--in this case, box 9 (21-2-7), Public Hearings - Major Joseph di Paoli.

For further information, consult the inventory.

The addition of the index (March, 1987) makes entry into the collection easier.
